SINOPSIS KURSUS

KURSUS WAJIB/COMPULSORY COURSES

SKSU6204 Metodologi Penyelidikan Strategi dan Diplomasi

Research Methods in Strategy and Diplomacy

Kursus ini bertujuan untuk membincangkan dengan lebih lanjut kaedah penyelidikan kualitatif dan kuantitatif dalam pengajian strategi dan diplomasi terutamanya dalam mempertingkatkan kemahiran penulisan pelajar mengenai aspek teori dan aplikasi. Kursus ini akan membincangkan dengan lebih mendalam bagaimana untuk menstruktur dan menulis cadangan penyelidikan yang kukuh. Beberapa aspek penting kaedah penyelidikan seperti strategi dan teknik pengumpulan data, analisis mikro dan makro dan research design akan juga disentuh. Para pelajar akan dinilai berdasarkan saranan penyelidikan mereka.

The objective of the course is to expose students to qualitative and quantitative research methods in strategic and diplomatic studies. It aims to enhance students' research and analytical skills, in addition to exposing them to aspects of theory and application. The course also prepares students to write a research proposal to the expected academic standard. Aspects of research such as data collection techniques, micro and macro analysis and research design will be covered in this course. Students are assessed based on their research proposals.

SKSU6214 Keselamatan Strategi dan Antarabangsa: Konsep dan Teori

Strategy and International Security: Concepts and Theoris

Kursus ini merupakan pengenalan kepada Pengajian Strategi dan Keselamatan sebagai satu cabang ilmu Hubungan Antarabangsa tahap siswazah. Ia tertumpu kepada penggunaan kuasa ketenteraan (bersama dengan pendekatan bukan ketenteraan) demi mencapai matlamat politik dalam sistem antarabangsa semasa. Ia bertujuan mendedahkan para pelajar dengan konsep dan teori utama diperlukan untuk menganalisa isu strategik dan antarabangsa, khususnya perihal motif dan bentuk strategi bermatlamat mempertahankan keselamatan dan sasaran polisi lain di antara aktor berdaulat. Antara konsep dan teori asas dikaji adalah: anarki, kuasa, peperangan, keselamatan, kepentingan “nasional”, pakatan, penjajaran, institusi, dan instrumen kenegaraan, di samping hujahan Realisme, Liberalisme, dan Konstruktivisme. Perhatian khas diberi kepada beberapa tema yang berulang di politik dunia, iaitu politik kuasa besar, punca peperangan, sumber keamanan, penggunaan dan kekangan kuasa ketenteraan, fungsi dan limitasi diplomasi, sinergi dan “tradeoff” pelbagai pilihan polisi (terhadap kuasa besar dan negara kecil), serta angkubah domestik dan struktur yang mempengaruhi dasar dan hakikat pada peringkat antarabangsa.

This course is a graduate-level introduction to Strategic and Security Studies as a subfield of International Relations. It focuses on the use of military power (alongside non-military means) for political ends in contemporary inter-state system. It aims to expose students with a range of key conceptual tools and theoretical approaches needed to analyze strategic and international issues, especially the motives and manifestations of state strategies in pursuit of security and other goals among the self-interested sovereign actors. These analytical devices include anarchy, power, war, security, "national" interests, alliance, alignment, institutions and other instruments of statecraft, in addition to the propositions of Realism, Liberalism, and Constructivism. Particular attention is paid to several recurring themes in world politics, i.e. great power politics, causes of war, sources of peace, the uses and constraints of military force, the functions and limits of diplomacy, the synergies and tradeoffs between multiple policy options (both to big powers and to smaller states), as well as the effects of various domestic and structural variables driving policies and outcomes at the international level.

KURSUS ELEKTIF/ELECTIVE COURSES

SKSU6244 Perbandingan Dasar Luar dan Pertahanan Comparative Foreign and Defence Policy

Kursus ini mendedahkan pelajar dengan pendekatan analitikal untuk membanding pembentukan dan pelaksanaan dasar luar dan pertahanan di era globalisasi. Ia menerokai faktor, kewujudan, dan pertalian di antara dasar luar dan dasar pertahanan bagi kuasa besar dan negara pertengahan. Bahagian pertama kursus ini membincang alat konseptual dan teoritikal untuk menerangkan dasar external aktor berdaulat. Bahagian kedua meneliti instrumen dasar luar dan pertahanan, termasuk diplomasi dan perundingan, propaganda, tindakan covert, alat ekonomi, serta senjata dan penggunaan kekerasan. Bahagian ketiga memberi peluang kepada pelajar membuat pembentangan dengan menggunakan negara-negara terpilih dari rantau berlainan dengan kes untuk membanding dan menganalisa intipati dan sumber tindakan luar negara di bawah syarat geopolitik, geo-ekonomi, dan dalaman yang berbeza.

This course exposes students with analytical approaches to compare the formulation and implementation of foreign and defense policies in the era of globalization. It explores the factors, manifestations, and interconnectedness of foreign and defense policies for both big powers and secondary states. The first part of the course discusses conceptual and theoretical tools to make sense of sovereign actors' external policies. The second part surveys a variety of instruments of foreign and defense policies, i.e. diplomacy and negotiation, propaganda, covert action, economic tools, weapons and use of force. The third part provides opportunities for students to make presentations by using selected countries in different regions as cases to compare and analyze the substance and sources of states' external behavior under different geopolitical, geo-economic, and domestic conditions.

SKSU6254 Globalisasi & Regonalisasi

Globalisation and Regionalisation

Kursus ini bertujuan untuk membolehkan pelajar memahami tren globalisasi dan regionalisasi masa kini dengan kemahiran teoretikal dan praktikal. Fokus utama kursus ini adalah terhadap peluang dan cabaran yang terbentuk akibat daripada pertukaran merentas sempadan pada skala global dan serantau. Menerusi perbincangan bertema, pelajar dapat mengkaji faktor-faktor yang memandu proses globalisasi dan regionalisasi. Pelajar akan terlibat dalam perbincangan kuliah secara aktif dengan mendalami isu-isu global governans, jenayah rentas sempadan, isu gender, keselamatan siber, masyarakat sivil, isu ekonomi dan banyak lagi. Neksus isu-isu ekonomi dan keselamatan tersebut bakal melibatkan pelajar dalam perdebatan mengenai proses interaksi di antara negara dan masyarakat sivil. Pelbagai paradig dan pendekatan teori akan disampaikan kepada pelajar supaya mereka mampu menginterpretasikan tren globalisasi dan regionalisasi daripada sudut yang pelbagai dan berbeza. Pada akhir kursus, pelajar mampu membentuk dasar tindak-balas terhadap pelbagai isu global dan serantau dengan kemahiran analisa angkubah secara empirikal melalui penggunaan indeks hubungan antarabangsa.

This course aims to present students the main contemporary trends of globalisation and regionalisation by combining the theoretical and practical components. The course will focus on the opportunities and challenges presented by the transboundary exchanges on the global and regional scales. In issue-based discussion, students will investigate the drivers of globalisation and regionalisation, and how they relate to one another. These issues include (but not limited to) global governance, transnational crimes, economic integration and disintegration, gender, cyber security, environmental threats, and many more. The nexus of these trans-border economic and security issues will provide students with lively discussion on the processes of top-down (state-based) and bottom-up (civil society-based) interactions. Various paradigms and theoretical approaches will be considered, teaching students how to interpret contemporary trends from different points of view. At the end of the course, students will learn how to form policy responses towards a range of regional and global issues, using empirical variables in international affairs' indexes.

SKSU6274 Malaysia dan Strategi Negara Kecil Malaysia and Small State Strategy

Kursus ini meneliti situasi dan kedudukan unik “negara lebih kecil” (bukan kuasa besar) dalam politik dunia dengan menggunakan Malaysia sebagai satu kajian kes. Ia terbahagi kepada tiga bahagian. Bahagian pertama focus ke atas pendekatan konseptual dan analitik yang diperlukan untuk menjelaskan pelbagai dimensi kenegaraan kuasa kecil, terutamanya perihal bagaimana negara lebih lemah dapat menjamin kelangsungan masing-masing dalam dunia didominasi kuasa-kuasa lebih kuasa. Bahagian kedua mengkaji perhatian strategik dan aspirasi diplomatik Malaysia pada tahap serantau dan dunia. Perhatian diberikan kepada bagaimana dan mengapa negara kecil tersebut berusaha memainkan peranan lebih besar dari kekangan fizikalnya atas beberapa aspek utama. Ini termasuk pengembangan ASEAN, proses institusasi kerjasama Asia Timur, penghasilan saranan berpusatkan negara-sedang-membangun, serta penglibatan dalam Pertubuhan Bangsa-bangsa Bersatu dan Operasi Pengaman. Bahagian ketiga melibatkan pembentangan pelajar atas hasil penyelidikan dan penulisan “case studies” di pelbagai rantau masing-masing.

The study of “smaller states” (the non-great powers) is a relatively neglected area of inquiry in International Relations. This course aims to fill this gap by exploring the unique situation and value of smaller states in world politics, with Malaysia as a case study. The course consists of three parts. The first part focuses on the conceptual and analytical tools needed to explain various dimensions of small-power statecraft, especially concerning how weaker states survive in a world dominated by stronger powers, and why they pursue certain policy approaches the way they do. The second part examines Malaysia’s strategic concerns and diplomatic aspirations at the regional and global levels. Attention is paid on how and why, despite its inherent predicaments and vulnerabilities, the smaller state has endeavored to punch above its weight on the evolution of ASEAN, the institutionalization of East Asian cooperation, the creation of developing-countries-oriented initiatives, and the participation in the United Nations and the peacekeeping operations. The third part provides opportunity for students to present their case studies on small-power statecraft in different regions.
