

SPECIAL ISSUE ON “ASEAN ISSUES AND REGIONAL INTEGRATION”

JEBAT: MALAYSIAN JOURNAL OF HISTORY, POLITICS & STRATEGIC STUDIES

JEBAT: Malaysian Journal of History, Politics & Strategic Studies of University Kebangsaan Malaysia invites research and review articles for a Special Issue publication for year 2015. The theme for this special issue is “ASEAN Issues and Regional Integration” – kindly see the abstract below.

Abstract:

ASEAN is perhaps the most dynamic regional organization in the Asia Pacific in the post-World War II period. Formed in 1967 by five Southeast Asian states, principally to manage security, poverty and developmental issues of that period, the organization evolved to become a dynamic regional grouping of ten states. At present, ASEAN is dedicated towards enhancing regional integration through strengthening regional security architecture, promoting socio-economic wellbeing of its 600 million population and increasing socio-cultural linkages among its people.

As such, this Special Issue invites articles that address the broad aspects of:

- ASEAN's history and development process
- ASEAN Community and integration initiatives
- ASEAN Politico-security issues
- ASEAN Economic and Socio-cultural issues
- Comparative works on ASEAN and other states, regions and organizations
- Comparative works on intra-ASEAN issues
- Specific issues in ASEAN countries
- Policy initiatives and formulation issues in ASEAN states (which includes development, socio-economy, education, poverty, environment, migration, health etc.)

Contributors should submit their articles in an electronic format as a Microsoft Word file (via email to jebat@ukm.edu.my). All submissions should follow the journal's guidelines below. Please indicate that the submission is for Special Issue on ASEAN.

Language: The journal accepts manuscripts written in Malay/Bahasa Indonesia or in English. The author may use either English or American spelling preferences in English language submissions, provided that only one style is used (consistently) throughout the manuscript (exclusive of bibliography).

Manuscript: For this special issue, the articles should be no less than 5,000 words and no more than 7,000. These figures include references, footnotes, and bibliography.

To facilitate the review process, the author's details are not to be included in the manuscript. Please attach a separate page which carries the following information:

1. Name of the author(s)
2. Title of the article
3. Abstract of the article (150 words minimum - 200 words maximum)
4. Institutional address
5. Author(s) email(s)
6. 5 or 6 relevant keywords
7. A short biographical note (50 words max)
8. The exact length of the article

Articles should be typed in double spacing (including notes and references). Articles that are written in Malay/Bahasa Indonesia should include an abstract and title in English, as well as Malay/Bahasa Indonesia.

Quotations: Quoted words, phrases and sentences should be enclosed in double quotation marks. Quotations within quotations should be enclosed in single quotation marks. Italicize non-English terms or phrases in manuscripts written in English, and italicize non-Malay terms or phrases in manuscripts written in Malay/Bahasa Indonesia. Quotations may be either run-in or, in the case of quotations which are four lines or longer, set off from the text as block quotations.

Table, Diagrams, and Maps: To facilitate the typesetting process, tables should be uploaded as separate files. Any diagrams or maps should be in .TIF or .JPG formats and submitted in separate individual files. These should be prepared in black and white. Tints should be avoided; use patterns instead.

References, Notes and Citations: Notes should be kept to a minimum. Use endnotes, not footnotes. All notes should be numbered in sequence 1, 2, 3..., and double spaced. In-text citation should be in the form of endnotes. It is the author's responsibility to ensure the accuracy of the reference. For all articles, a list of references cited must be supplied at the end of the manuscript in the form of a bibliography. When the bibliography lists several works by the same author, his or her name should not be repeated.
