Vital™ is an institutional repository solution designed for universities, libraries, museums, archives, and information centers. Built on Fedora™, this software is designed to simplify the development of digital object repositories and to provide seamless online search and retrieval of information for administrative staff, contributing faculty, and end-users. Vital™ provides all types of institutions a way to broaden access to valuable resources that were once only available at a single location and to a finite number of patrons. By eliminating the traditional limitations information seekers encounter, this technology grants access to materials for all authorized end-users, from professional researchers to recreational learners.

English (United Kingdom)

Contains UKM publications and materials such as past year exam papers, seminar papers, newspaper cuttings, UKM theses and etc ...
